

Cambridge Limmud is Back Sunday 4 November

In case you have not heard about us:

It's a fabulous day out for everyone (we even have a professionally staffed crèche)

It's 1 hour's drive from London or 50 minutes to Cambridge by train.

So what can you expect?

We have a great line-up of diverse speakers with a choice of six different presenters for each session! There is something to interest everyone.

If you are interested in the arts we have artists, musicologists, a raconteur, an architect, and major contemporary novelists from the UK and Israel. Linguists include the translator of Amos Oz, A.B. Yehoshua and other famous Israeli authors. There are also social scientists and historians. The historians specialise in many periods starting with late antiquity.

There are plenty of sessions on politics and Israel, including the author of The Left's Problem; Jeremy Corbyn, Israel, and Anti-Semitism. Those interested in social activism, human rights, and legal issues will not be disappointed.

There are world renowned rabbis and Jewish educators to suit every taste. Our science presenters are world class. We have experts in the fields of autism and big data.

And what of younger people? There is a specially tailored programme for those aged between 3-17 and a professionally staffed crèche.

Cambridge Limmud is a great day out for all the family in the dreary month of November. To find out more, book the early bird rate
